THE COCA-COLA CLASSIC IS NIFTY AT FIFTY

BY KEVIN MITCHELL
VETERAN SPORTS WRITER

From the early years of Ray Allison, Gord Kluzak, Barry Pederson, Doug Bodger and Greg Adams to the later years of Brent Gilchrist, Jeff Finley, Richard Matvichuk, Matt Higgins, Brad Larsen, Morgan Rielly, Josh Morrissey, Mathew Barzal and Jason Podollan, the Vernon Pee Wee Invitational Coca-Cola Hockey Tournament has always held up its theme of "The Stars of Tomorrow are Here Today."

Now entering its 50th year, the eight-team event again expects to showcase some of the best 13-year-olds in the land in a tourney which has featured teams from Barrie, Ont. to California and Alaska. Vernon has won nine championships, while Winnipeg follows with four. Cowichan Valley and Calgary have three apiece.

Keith Green, current tourney committee co-chairman and more than decade on the board, said "making it to 50 had to be a sure thing. My Dad coached the Richmond team which included my youngest brother and can be found in the 1983 program picture, so this tournament has family history for me and most of our committee members either played in it or had a family member play in it.

Our committee members have been chomping at the bit to make sure we meet this milestone. Fifty years of committee members that put all that time in to make this a great tournament, it was vitally important we pull this one off and try to make it the best tournament to date. Obviously we had some challenges moving venues and of course Covid took two years away from the tournament and we're looking to be stronger and better than ever and sometimes you have to adapt."

Celebrating year 50 along with the Mustangs are the Okotoks Oilers of Alberta, Cranbrook Bucks, St. Albert Raiders, Chilliwack Bruins, Leduc Roughnecks, North Delta Sun Devils and Wenatchee Wild. The tourney goes Feb. 9-12.

Green said teams will be housed at the Premier Best Western instead of the Vernon Lodge due to priority changes at the Lodge.

"The Premier Best Western has bent over backwards for us. It's a good fit. It's not perfect. We're having to deal with a significant reduction in room for our dance (featuring the Shawn Lightfoot Band) but our hospitality room will be open to community members to stop in and say hi and check out our silent auction items starting the evening of Wednesday, February 8th."

The founding tournament committee, all directors with minor hockey, included Len Miller, Chum Kaneda, Al Madden, Jack Boutillier, Frank Flasch, Les York, Ed O'Brien and Doug Bulwer. It was Madden who suggested that Vernon hold a tournament during its annual Winter Carnival since Quebec was doing such.

The inaugural tournament, in 1972, saw the Saanich Braves take the Amy Myles Memorial A title 9-3 over Hollyburn Winter Club. Saanich was led by superstar brothers Gary and Murray Slezak and Robert Clavette.

Teams billeted in the early years, later staying at the Vernon Lodge, where a complimentary banquet was held each Saturday night featuring Hockey Hall of Famer Babe Pratt as keynote speaker for the first 10 years and later Gilchrist.

"We billeted Murray Slezak and Rob Clavette, who were probably the two most dynamic players in the tournament," said Kevin Mitchell, who spent 18 years as a director. "They were great kids and I followed their careers with the Nanaimo Clippers and Victoria Cougars where they also succeeded."

Vernon's team in year two, coached by Walt Trentini, had a winning roster of Rex Slizak, George Crookshank, Earl Sophonow, Earl Smith, Glen Fester, Gordie Howard, Rod Trentini, Scott Madden, Dave Fish, Jay Mondin, Lester Creelman, Fabian Alexis, Darcy Anderson, Jed Sparrow, Tony Mahood and Chris Grant.

The Mustangs stopped Saanich 4-2 in overtime in the A final.

"Gordie Howard was our sniper," recalls defenceman Glen Fester, a tournament director and North Dakota Fighting Sioux grad. "I fed him with a pass up the middle and he broke through the defence to score an important goal in that game. I believe Rex Slizak was our goalie."

Jed Sparrow, a longtime director, was also on that championship team and may be part of the only father-son winning combination since his son, Colton, was on the 2006 double-over win over Alaska. Jed coached Vernon alongside Pat Field in 2005.

"We went into overtime after Lester Creelman had a penalty shot in the third period and the goalie stopped it. That was back when you couldn't walk around Civic Arena and they figured there were 2,000 fans."

Jed said Creelman was the Mustangs' No. 1 sniper and gave major props to Slizak, Rod Trentini, Fester and Howard.

"I loved that tournament; it was the greatest thing I ever played in. It was a lot of fun. My wife (Chris) took my trophy and put both (Colton) our names on it."

Sparrow has also enjoyed working with his older brother Jim, who served close to 25 years as a director. Chris has kept it in the family by running 50-50 sales for several years.

Hubie Petersen was behind the bench of the 1980 team that stopped St. Albert 6-3 in the A final. That team included four players selected in the 1986 NHL Entry Draft - Gilchrist, Finley, Bruce Major and Jay Stark.

Garry Pruden, among the most respected committee members with 30 years experience, is jacked about finally getting year 50 in after a two-year hiatus due to the pandemic. A social for current and past directors was held at the Premier Western Hotel to hype this year's tournament.

"It was really nice to see some of the committee members attend," said the dean of directors. "We've always had a fantastic group of committee members over all the years, people who did so much to maintain the integrity and success of such a great tournament."

Pruden, who is in charge of finances, is high on the tournament roster.

"This is 50 and we're extremely happy with the teams that are coming. We're excited about what's going to happen in the tournament, which is always great and as everybody knows, the past history includes lots of past NHLers."

A major tournament highlight came in 1993 when Vernon iced the Prince George Cougars 6-3 in the A final before 1,200 raucous fans. The game was aired on CJIB Radio with (Pistol) Pete McIntyre calling the play by play and Mitchell providing the colour.

The tournament committee has given out thousands of dollars in scholarships and to other organizations in need. Directors Charlie Briskham and Clark Inglis led a huge $10,000 donation for a new time clock at Kal Tire Place.

The Rienie Holland Memorial Award for Best Volunteer, Ernie Kowal Memorial Award for Best Coach, and Dan Oxnard Memorial Award for most Sportsmanlike Team are all given out annually.

All teams get a private dressing room and five regulation games. The Mustangs get rock star status by riding on the float in the annual Vernon Winter Carnival Parade.

The U13 Vernon Mustangs are a part of the Greater Vernon Minor Hockey Association, playing in the Okanagan Mainline Amateur Hockey Association (OMAHA). We are a strong T2 team, playing in a tough OMAHA T1 flight for the 2022-2023 season. We have a fairly even split of first and second year players. Our 2011 players are coming off an exceptional undefeated season with the U11 Dev A team. Of our 2010 players, one player played on the U13 T1 team, with the others playing T2 last year. The 2010 teams had successful seasons where they saw a lot of growth, ending in the middle of their respective divisions.

With league play not yet started, the team is working on getting to know their new teammates and looking forward to some hard battles playing up in the T1 flight. They will draw on the experience of their coaches who have amazing backgrounds playing various levels of hockey, including the NHL and WHL. The players are working hard, on and off the ice, to develop and grow into a hard working, respectful team. We are gritty and determined to make a strong showing in the T1 league.

Chilliwack Minor Hockey has an elite development staff ready to support our already highly trained and experienced coaching team. Our Head of Coach and player Development, Brad Rhilea, has secured quality coaches with the hockey knowledge to get all our players ready for their next level.

Head coach Steve Ahuja has been developing players in the lower mainland for 3 years and in those 3 years, at least 20 players have made elite teams across the Metro Vancouver area. Our Assistant coach Taylor Lagemaat, played in the Coca Cola Classic tournament during the 2009 - 2010 Season for Chilliwack Minor Hockey. As an alumni Taylor knows what it takes to compete and have success at this level.

Our team consists of 12 second years and 5 first years. We are a development driven team with a high compete level that will bring a competitive edge to any game we play. We expect this season to be a huge development year for both our 2011s as well as our 2010s. Our players show grit and determination never letting up, always digging for the puck in the corners, winning the battles, keeping up the pressure and forcing the opposing team to make mistakes.

We are ready to take on any challenge that comes our way and will bring our best game and leave everything out on the ice!

The AA Cranbrook Bucks are made up of players from communities across the beautiful East Kootenay, including Kimberley, Fernie, Invermere, Sparwood and Cranbrook. The team is not currently part of a league but has been playing tournaments and exhibition games in arenas stretching from Saskatchewan to the Okanagan.

The team is made up of 15 players born in 2010, five of which are returning from last season, and two players born in 2011. The Bucks play an assertive style in all three zones, with a focus on puck support and quick transitions from offense to defense and back. Our team goal is to take steps each day to grow and develop as both players and young men through our successes and mistakes.

Our team's vision was to bring together the most driven hockey players in our region to compete against the best teams we could find. We have had successful results against teams from all the Western Canadian provinces and look forward to the challenge at the legendary Coca-Cola Classic!

Co-Head Coach Colin Sinclair had a tremendously successful hockey career, winning a Canada Games gold medal (1999 Team Alberta), a Memorial Cup (2002 Kootenay Ice), the World University Games (2007 Team Canada) and CIS Championship (2007 UNB). Co-Head Coach Carson Loftsgard won a Canada Games gold medal (1995 Team Saskatchewan) and lost in the Royal Bank Cup final (1996 Melfort Mustangs) against the... Vernon Vipers!

The North Delta U13 A1 Sun Devils play in the Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey Association (PCAHA) representing a small, tight-knit community nestled between Surrey, New Westminster and Richmond on the south side of the Fraser River with population of approximately 56,000 people.

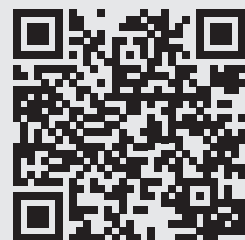

Our Head Coach, Chris Miller was born in Vernon and has had the pleasure of watching many years of fantastic pee wee hockey during the annual Winter Carnival. He played most of his minor hockey in Lumby until Midget age under the tutelage of many great coaches still involved in Vernon Minor Hockey today. Coach Miller is excited for the opportunity to showcase his hometown and this world class event to the team, the families, and the North Delta Minor Hockey Association. He truly believes this tournament will be an unforgettable, an uber-positive experience with life-long memories for the players and their families.

Our team is made up of 15 second-year players and 3 first-year players; all of them bringing an ideal mix of power, speed, and finesse to compliment an unmatched level of determination and work-ethic. Our objective for this year as coaches and team staff is to instill a core value of "WE > ME" which means through every opportunity on and off the ice, we strive to have the kids realize the power of putting the team before themselves. The kids, coaches and parents all feel honoured having been invited to compete such a prestigious event and wish all of the competitors the best of luck. Go Sun Devils Go!

Competing in the Northern Alberta Hockey League for the 2022/2023 season the Stars team roster consists of 12 second year and five first year players.

The Stars play a skilled passing game; characterized by strong skating skills and puck movement with an emphasis on communication and ice coverage. This style of play earned the Stars gold in the 2022 Melee in Millet Invitational and a finalist finish in the "A" Division Series at the 2022 U13AA Hockey Calgary Thanksgiving Tournament. Led by Head Coach, Peter Sinclair, the Stars schedule both on and off the ice requires extraordinary discipline. Coaching philosophy is leading each player this season toward individual accountability by developing personal skills while persistently supporting each player to raise their level of play in each game.

The Stars wish to thank the tournament selection committee for the acceptance into the 50th Annual Vernon Coca-Cola Classic. We look forward to a weekend of high-calibre hockey. Good Luck to all teams participating!

The Wenatchee Development Program provides an opportunity for a higher level of play, coaching and experience through our weekend model program. The base of our team is in their Peeewe Major season and our team additionally has a few minor and under age players that are some of the best in their birth year. Seeing the development ladder and ability to play with like-skilled teammates, for a first class program is what we aim to provide as players strive beyond youth hockey.

After the past two years only competing in the US, this will be most families first trip north of the border since the 2019-2020 season. Our players and parents are ecstatic to be returning for this great event, and look forward to the long awaited competition in Canada.

LARRY KWONG: THE LONGEST SHOT

BY CHAD SOON

OKANAGAN SPORTS HALL OF FAME

Larry Kwong was more than just a longshot to make it to the NHL. In the 1930s and '40s, the Okanagan was known for producing apples, not hockey players. No one from the region had ever reached the big league thousands of miles away.

Larry learned to skate and stickhandle on a homemade rink beside his family's store in Vernon's Chinatown. In his first organized game at age 12, Larry scored a hat trick to give Vernon a 3-3 tie with Lumby's U14 reps. But Larry would have to beg his mother to let him keep playing the sport he loved. His father had died when Larry was 5, and Larry was expected to help support the family. He got a job washing dishes but he was not willing to give up his hockey dream.

"I will buy you a house with my hockey money," Larry promised his mother through tears. With that, she let her youngest son continue on his own path. The odds of an NHL player coming out of the BC wilderness were seemingly impossible. For Larry there was another giant obstacle to NHL stardom: the colour barrier.

This was the era of Chinese Exclusion in North America. Chinese Canadians could not practice professions or vote. Larry couldn't even get a haircut at the local barbershop: whites only. Hockey was known as a 'white man's game' and the NHL reflected that.

By 15 Larry was known in rinks around BC as the China Clipper. Larry carried the Vernon Hydrophones to the 1939 BC midget title with 8 goals and 12 points in the 2-game final. His offense also powered the Hydrophones to the provincial juvenile championship in 1941.

At 18 Larry was signed by the legendary Trail Smoke Eaters, who had been the senior world champions two years earlier. All the Smokies had high-paying jobs at the Trail smelter, but the company wouldn't take Larry: "No Chinese allowed."

In 1946 Larry was off to the Big Apple to play for the New York Rovers, a farm team of the Rangers. Fans packed Madison Square Garden to see "King" Kwong play.

After a sensational season, Larry used his hockey money to buy his mom a new house in Calgary.

Larry led the Rovers in scoring the next year, but watched as player after player was called up to the big league ahead of him. Finally, his NHL turn came: a game against "Rocket" Richard and the Canadiens in the Montreal Forum.

"This is what I had dreamed about since I was a little kid," Larry recalled.

On March 13, 1948, Larry broke hockey's colour barrier as the first NHL player of Asian descent. His only shift came late in the game. Then, he was sent back down to the farm team. "I was very disappointed I didn't get a better chance to prove myself," Larry said many years later.

"There was no justice for Larry Kwong," argued Stan Fischler in The New York Times. "He deserved better."

Larry went on to become a legend in the Quebec Senior League, competing against rising stars like Jean Béliveau, Dickie Moore and Jacques Plante. In 1951 Larry took MVP honours and led the Valleyfield Braves to a Canadian championship.

"He was a very smooth player," remembered Jean Béliveau, "very skilled, with a beautiful style." Fellow Hall of Famer Dickie Moore agreed: "Larry was a heck of a hockey player. He was a good skater, a good puck handler. He could score goals. What more do they want?"

Some compared Larry's passing to Gretzky's. But the NHL never called Larry again. Instead he scorched the British League with 55 goals in 55 games. Larry then became the first person of Asian descent to coach in a top European league. For 10 years, starting in 1958, he helped grow the game in Switzerland. The CEO of the Swiss Ice Hockey Federation called Larry "a great ambassador and builder of hockey."

Larry passed away in 2018, but his 'anything is possible' story should not be forgotten. Vernon's first NHL player became known far and wide for his great skill and sportsmanship. He was a builder of hockey as an international sport and he was a builder of diversity in the game. Larry Kwong was a champion of fair play for all.
